Our Philosophy

We believe in helping clients make the most knowledgeable decisions when it comes to reproductive health and the use of artificial reproductive technologies. This is why we have counselors and psychologists available to play a big role in the decision making process of our services. We are judgement-free and work to satisfy the wishes of our clients, no matter their race, sex, gender, sexual orientation, or marital status. We not only care about the client but about the future child. We respect the request for anonymity by gamete donors, but also have created the option for donor children to make individual requests for contact, an option unique to our clinic.

Our Services

- Sterilization
- In-vitro Fertilization
- Gestational Surrogacy
(surrogate is only carrying child)
- Traditional Surrogacy
(surrogate is both carrying child and donating an egg)
- Prenatal Disability Testing
- Pre-implantation Genetic Diagnosis (disability testing, sex selection, non-medical characteristics selection)

Counseling and egg and sperm donation services also available.

QUALIFYING CANDIDATES

- Sterilization available for fully cognizant women requesting the service for themselves.
- Those requesting surrogacy or IVF must agree to psychological evaluation.
- Married and unmarried cohabitating couples, heterosexual or homosexual, as well as single parents accepted.
- Some age restrictions also apply. Please call for more details.

Our Counselors and Psychologists

Our counselors and psychologists are all licensed professionals and available on-call. They are here to help guide our clients through the decision making process of navigating infertility and the reproductive health of themselves or the health of their future child.

SPERM AND EGG DONORS

Men and women between the ages of 18-30 interested in donating their gametes should give us a call to receive more information. We will be happy to discuss the process of donation, financial compensation, and the benefits to helping families in need!
