How do we approach fertility?

Fertility can be a complex and emotional journey that often feels out of a family's control. We aim to restore some of that power through our core principles: informed consent and parental autonomy.

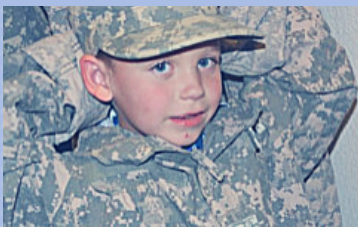

Informed consent: You will always be educated and aware about all aspects of your pregnancy.

Parental autonomy: You have the freedom to make your own choices regarding your children.

What are your financial options?

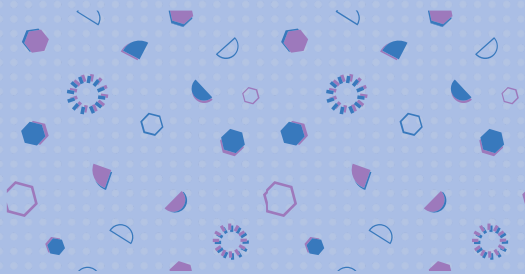

We aim to make your fertility journey as affordable as possible. We are proud to offer discounts to our actively serving military families and veterans.

We additionally provide the following resources:

- Arranging structured payment plans
- Participating clinic in infertility financing programs
- Compiling extensive lists of scholarships, grants, & state aid opportunities

How do we build families responsibly?

We are conscious of the societal impact of our work, and we strive to build families as responsibly as possible.

- Egg donors are limited to six donation cycles.
- Sperm donors are limited to benefitting a maximum of six families.
- No international surrogacy is permitted - only domestic surrogates with prior pregnancy experience are accepted.
